People’s Democratic Republic of Algeria

Animal Protection Index 2014 ranking: F

Animal Protection Index Indicators

Goal 1: Recognition of animal sentience and the importance of animal protection as a societal value

1. Animal sentience is formally recognised in legislation and/or policy

Ranking: G

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 1: Verification</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation recognising animal sentience.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 2: Assessment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>As it stands today, there is no formal evidence or signal from the government to recognise sentience as an independent issue that will inform discussions of animal issues in the country. As such, sentience is not included and does not inform public policies that could be potentially linked to animals (such as environmental or sustainable production policies).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The government has not yet incorporated current practical experience and scientific knowledge regarding animal sentience into the country’s legislation. It is concerning that the government does not appear to consider animal welfare to be an important issue for regulation, despite the country’s membership of the OIE.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
2. The government has pledged in principle support for the Universal Declaration on Animal Welfare

Ranking: G

Part 1: Verification

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>There is no government support</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The government has not pledged in principle support for the Universal Declaration on Animal Welfare.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Note: The Universal Declaration on Animal Welfare is a proposed formal international acknowledgment of a set of principles giving animal welfare due recognition among governments and the international community. An expression of support for the UDAW demonstrates a government’s commitment to working with the international community to improve animal welfare.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Part 2: Assessment

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>At present there is no support for the UDAW. Support for the UDAW would be a first step towards integrating animal protection considerations into different discussion forums, becoming a soft law source for decision makers interested in improving animal protection in the country.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The government has not demonstrated interest in improving animal protection in the country. There appear to be barriers to improvement.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

3. There are animal protection laws that prohibit causing animal suffering either by a deliberate act of cruelty or by a failure to act

Ranking: D

Part 1: Verification

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>There is legislation with partial application</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Law 88/08 of 1988 on veterinary activities and the protection of animal health includes a chapter on animal protection and the control of animal health and animal products (Title IV). Article 58 establishes a prohibition against those who practice “bad treatments” towards domestic and tamed or captive wild animals. The article provides for secondary regulations to be produced, which will also include measures against the abusive use of animals in various circumstances, however no evidence was found of any secondary legislation in relation to this article.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Article 60 establishes that people keeping animals (owners and keepers in general) should keep</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
them in a good state of health and establishes a series of obligations with regard to health authorities.
In addition, the Penal Code contains three articles which cover some specific punishable conducts such as poisoning animals (Article 415), causing death and injuries, overloading working animals, working with ill animals and accidents caused by use of weapons and poor keeping conditions (Article 457), and mistreatment of domestic and tamed or captive wild animals (Article 449). The wording of Article 449 of the Penal Code is very similar to that of Law 88/08. For Article 415, there is a narrow list of species covered, which include mostly domestic and working animals along with fish.

Part 2: Assessment

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The relevant provisions of the Penal Code are quite specific and limited to circumstances by which the animal’s integrity is severely compromised or the animal is actually destroyed. As such, it is very difficult to promote welfare in the country as no particular attention is given to a wide range of conducts, negligent acts and other attitudes and behaviours that could compromise animal welfare without causing death or injury. The existing specialised legislation (Law 88/08 of 1988) is framed within provisions on the veterinary profession and, in general, on the health of animals. While health is an important component of welfare, there are a number of aspects that are not covered by said legislation and as such, the issue does not appear to have significant independence in legislation that would allow the concept of animal welfare to become a mainstream concern of society. The general mandate is reduced to avoid mistreatment of animals, but no indication is given of the extent and scope of this circumstance or an indication of what constitutes mistreatment, making the measure difficult to apply.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is no indication of human or financial resource dedicated to animal welfare. Provisions in Law 88/08 are detailed in relation to veterinary services and in relation to control of diseases and spreading of diseases. Whilst some of these provisions are helpful with respect to animal welfare, they are not sufficient to improve animal welfare in the country. The lack of recognition of the importance of animal welfare as an issue separate to those of animal health and disease control is a considerable barrier to progress.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Article 58 of Law 88/08 establishes that infractions to the article will be punished in accordance to the three articles of the Penal Code mentioned above. The conducts described in Articles 415, 449 and 457 have different degrees of punishment (fines and/or imprisonment) in the Algerian system, with poisoning (Article 415) as the most severe.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

4. a. There are laws that apply to animals used in farming including rearing, transport and slaughter
Ranking: D

Part 1: Verification

- There is legislation with partial application

The basic provisions for the protection of animals appearing in Law 88-08 and in the Penal Code are applicable to animals used in farming. Article 58 of Law 88-08 provides that regulations will be made to protect animals from suffering in various methods of rearing, housing, transport and slaughter. The subsequent executive decree 04-82 governs conditions for establishments associated with animals and animal products, and for the transport of animals. Article 6 provides that establishments for rearing animals must be constructed so as to ensure the well-being of the animals. However, this is referenced to sanitary measures such as housing being easy to clean. Article 15 provides that transport methods must be designed to preserve the life and well-being of animals.

Part 2: Assessment

- Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?

The existing legislation has a number of provisions that relate to the health of farming animals. However, these are limited and lacking in detail and do not consider the overall welfare of the animals concerned.

- Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?

The fact that an executive decree has been issued covering some aspects of farm animal welfare indicates that the government is prepared to take action in this area. This suggests that some improvement may be possible.

- Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?

Infringement of the provisions set out in executive decree 04-82 is, through the primary legislation Article 58 of Law 88-08, punishable under Articles 415, 449 and 457 of the Penal Code with fines and/or imprisonment.

---

4. b. There are laws that apply to animals in captivity

Ranking: E

Part 1: Verification

- There is legislation with partial application

Provisions for the protection of animals appearing in Law 88-08 and in the Penal Code are applicable to animals in captivity. Article 58 of Law 88-08 and Article 449 of the Penal Code make reference to “domestic, tamed and wild animals in captivity.” Beyond these basic provisions, there is no evidence of legislation or policy dealing specifically with the welfare of animals in captivity.
Part 2: Assessment

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Question</th>
<th>Answer</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</td>
<td>There is no evidence of legislation or policy acknowledging specific problems arising from holding animals in captivity. Both sets of provisions in Law 8808 and the Penal Code are vague as most conducts are undefined. There is no correlation between the existing punishable conducts and problems associated with captivity of animals.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
<td>There is no indication or evidence of existing financial or human resource allocated to develop policy and legislation relevant to this indicator. The lack of recognition of the importance of animal welfare as an issue separate to those of animal health and disease control is a considerable barrier to progress. The government is encouraged to develop independent legislation addressing other aspects of animal welfare.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?</td>
<td>Infringement of the relevant provisions in Law 8808 and in the Penal Code is punishable by fines and/or imprisonment under Articles 415, 449 and 457 of the Penal Code.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

4. c. There are laws that apply to companion animals

Ranking: E

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 1: Verification</th>
<th>Details</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is legislation with partial application</td>
<td>Provisions for the protection of animals appearing in Law 8808 and in the Penal Code are applicable to companion animals. Article 58 of Law 8808 and Article 449 of the Penal Code make reference to domestic animals. Legislation on rabies control permits government culling of feral dogs and wild animals within areas where there are rabies cases, with no welfare considerations. Beyond these basic provisions, there is no evidence of legislation or policy dealing specifically with the welfare of companion animals.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 2: Assessment</th>
<th>Details</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</td>
<td>There is no evidence of legislation or policy presenting mandates or guidelines on the responsible care of domestic animals. The provisions in Law 8808 and the Penal Code are vague as most conducts are undefined. There is no correlation between the existing punishable conducts and problems associated with the welfare of domestic animals. In addition, the legislation on rabies control does not contemplate preventive measures.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
<td>There is no indication or evidence of financial or human resource available to develop policy and legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?
Infringement of the relevant provisions in Law 88-08 and in the Penal Code is punishable by fines and/or imprisonment under Articles 415, 449 and 457 of the Penal Code.

4. d. There are laws that apply to animals used for draught or recreational purposes

Ranking: E

Part 1: Verification
There is legislation with partial application
Provisions for the protection of animals appearing in Law 88-08 and in the Penal Code are applicable to animals used for draught or recreational purposes. Article 58 of Law 88-08 and Article 449 of the Penal Code make reference to “domestic, tamed and wild animals in captivity.” There is no evidence of legislation or policies specifically addressing the welfare of draught animals or animals used for recreational purposes.

4. e. There are laws that apply to animals used for scientific research

Ranking: D

Part 1: Verification
There is legislation with partial application
Article 58 of Law 88-08 of 1988 includes a general prohibition of committing “bad treatments” towards animals. Article 58 also states that the same prohibition applies in relation to animals used in biological, medical and scientific experiments, which experiments are required to be “limited to cases of strict necessity.”
Part 2: Assessment

Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?

The provision is limited in scope but does acknowledge that animal protection and the reduction of animal experimentation are intrinsically linked. As such, the legislation is based on one of the Three Rs principles (reduction), but there is scope for debate over what constitutes “strict necessity”.

Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?

There is no indication or evidence of financial or human resource available to develop policy and legislation relevant to this indicator.

Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?

Infringement of the relevant provisions in Law 88-08 and in the Penal Code is punishable by fines and/or imprisonment under Articles 415, 449 and 457 of the Penal Code.

4. f. There are laws that apply to wild animals

Ranking: D

Part 1: Verification

There is legislation with partial application

There are a number of laws that apply to wild animals in Algeria introduced from a hunting or conservation perspective. Law 03-10 of July 2003 is the main environmental protection law, which includes prohibitions on destroying, capturing and trafficking certain species. Law 04-07 of August 2004 regulates hunting. It specifies the administrative conditions by which a hunting licence can be obtained and also regulates issues related to hunting by tourists. Hunting is permitted with restrictions regarding time, location and protected species.

Part 2: Assessment

Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?

The legislation relating to wild animals is designed to avoid species destruction, to protect certain species and to regulate hunting activities. Regulations on tourist hunting in particular illustrate this point. There is no emphasis on the welfare of individual animals.

Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?

The government has identified the need to preserve biodiversity by protecting certain species of animal. The government is encouraged to consider introducing legislation to protect the welfare of wild animals.

Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?

Infringement of the prohibitions in Law 03-10 and Law 04-07 is punishable with fines and imprisonment.
Goal 2: Presence of effective governance structures and systems

5. The government has assigned responsibility and accountability for improving animal protection at a high government level and has provided resources

Ranking: G

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 1: Verification</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development has political control over activities relating to veterinary medicine and farmed animals. However, from the information publicly available, the protection of animals and advancement of animal welfare is not one of the stated aims of the Ministry.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 2: Assessment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There are no indications that the government has assigned responsibility for animal welfare issues to a specific government body.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>No responsibility is allocated for animal welfare within the government’s structure.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There are no enforcement mechanisms relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Goal 3: Implementation of animal protection standards

6. The government is actively engaged with the OIE to improve animal welfare internationally, regionally and nationally

Ranking: D

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 1: Verification</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is policy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The government shows some level of engagement with OIE initiatives. An OIE PVS evaluation mission has taken place in the country and there are a number of reports of interaction with the OIE, particularly on issues of reporting on animal health. The country has also recently hosted veterinary legislation conferences, aiding the development of veterinary regulations nationally and regionally.

Part 2: Assessment

Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?

There is evidence of the government’s interest in interacting with the OIE, in particular on issues affecting animal health. The lack of legislative and policy production on the welfare standards, however, limits the possibilities for development of a framework in which animal welfare considerations are brought to decision-making tables.

Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?

Algeria has engaged with OIE initiatives, which is perhaps an indication of some level of interest by the government in exploring how its policy and legislation might be developed in line with the country’s commitments as a member of the OIE.

Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?

There are no enforcement mechanisms relevant to this indicator.

---

7. The government has incorporated the OIE’s guiding principles for animal welfare and its animal welfare standards into policy and legislation

Ranking: G

Part 1: Verification

There is no policy or legislation

All OIE standards have yet to be transposed into legislation and policy in the country.

Part 2: Assessment

Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?

The OIE’s standards on animal welfare not only represent a consensual position achieved by countries represented in the organisation with regard to this subject matter, but also provide the necessary scientific background to produce sound policy and legislation on animal welfare.

Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?

Algeria is a member of the OIE and along with all other members of the organisation has supported the OIE’s animal welfare standards and guiding principles for animal welfare. The government is encouraged to incorporate the OIE’s standards and principles within policy and legislation.

Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?

There are no enforcement mechanisms relevant to this indicator.
8. The government publishes reports on progress towards goals set to monitor and improve standards of animal welfare

Ranking: G

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 1: Verification</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no evidence of policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 2: Assessment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>As the country does not have any targeted policy or legislation on which reports could be formulated, reporting activities are impossible to pursue. This does not appear to be a priority for government.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Goal 4: Provision of humane education

9. Animal care and protection are included in the national education system

Ranking: G

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 1: Verification</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>There is no policy or legislation</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no evidence of policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Part 2: Assessment</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>There is no evidence of policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
There is no evidence of policy development in this area, and animal welfare does not seem to have a high priority or visibility in society.

Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?
There is no policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.

Goal 5: Communication and awareness

10. The government works with others to improve animal protection by consulting and engaging relevant stakeholders, including NGOs

Ranking: G

Part 1: Verification
There is no policy or legislation
There is no evidence of policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.

Part 2: Assessment
Are policy and legal provisions effective in acknowledging animal welfare as a mainstream concern?
No publicly available official information was found relevant to this indicator. Information on the existence of charitable organisations dedicated to animal welfare or animal protection and animal sheltering is sparse.

Are there economic and societal barriers to improving this aspect of animal welfare?
The country does not appear to have a structure of organisations that could support the government in the production of policy and legislation on animal protection and animal welfare.

Are enforcement mechanisms in place in policy and legislation?
There is no policy or legislation relevant to this indicator.

Publication: November 2014
People’s Democratic Republic of Algeria: Socioeconomic information

Politics
Where not otherwise noted, information for this section has been sourced from the Economist Intelligence Unit’s [EUI] country profiles.

Government type
Republic

Capital
Algiers

International law organisation
Nonparty state to the ICC and has not submitted an ICJ jurisdiction declaration

Suffrage
18

Legal system
Mixed system of civil law and Islamic law

Executive branch
President: Abdelaziz Bouteflika
Prime Minister: Abdelmalek Sellal

Judicial branch
The Supreme Court is the highest judicial authority in Algeria and is divided into “8 chambers: civil, social, commercial and maritime, property, criminal, personal status, and injunctions”.

Legislative branch
Bicameral system: The Assemblée populaire nationale is the lower house and has 462 members. The upper house is called the Conseil de la nation which has 144 seats. The last parliamentary elections was held in May 2012.

Political parties
Front de libération nationale (FLN)
Rassemblement national démocratique (RND)
Alliance de Algérie verte

Economics
Where not otherwise noted, information for this section has been sourced from the World Bank.

The Algerian economy is almost wholly reliant on exporting oil and gas, mainly to Europe

---

4 http://aceproject.org/epic/en/CDTable&question=VR001#g
5 http://www.juriloge.ca/eng/sysjuri/class-poli/droit-civil.php
6 http://www.nyulawglobal.org/globalex/Algeria1.htm
7 http://carnegieendowment.org/files/Algeria_APS.doc and the US. It is expected that the economy will see growth in 2014, mainly from "a projected increase in gas exports". The BMI forecasts real GDP growth in 2014 of 4.4% and the current account surplus to 2.1% of GDP in 2014\(^\text{10}\). Domestically, the public sector has seen wage rises and there was a public investment programme, investing in "housing, road and railway construction", from 2010-2014\(^\text{11}\). A relaxation of credit conditions should stimulate private consumption, along with easing of inflation\(^\text{12}\). In the longer term, the EIU forecasts real GDP growth to average 4.6% for the period 2012-30\(^\text{13}\).

Main trading partners (2012)\(^\text{14}\)

Import
- France - 13.8%
- China - 12.7%
- Italy - 11.1%

Export
- Italy - 16.1%
- US - 15.0%
- Spain - 10.9%

Commodities (2012)\(^\text{15}\)

Imports
- Capital goods - 26.8%
- Semi-finished goods - 21.4%
- Food - 18.1%

Exports
- Hydrocarbons - 98.4%
- Semi-finished goods - 0.9%
- Raw materials - 0.2%

GDP (current USD, 2012)
$2,079,551,103,846$

GDP per capita, PPP (2012)
$8,515$

Labour force, total (2012)
11,984,410

Currency

Dinar

Equivalence to 1 USD
80.7833

Central government debt, total, (% of GDP, 2011)

NA

Manufacturing, value added (% of GDP, 2012)
6 (2009)

Agriculture, value added (% of GDP, 2012)
7 (2011)

Industry, value added (% of GDP, 2012)
62 (2010)

Exports (% of GDP) (2012)
31 (2010)

Imports (% of GDP) (2012)
22 (2010)
Services, etc., value added (% of GDP) (2012)
31 (2010)

Unemployment rate, (% 2011)
10.0 (2010)

Education expenditure (% of GDP, 2012)
4.3 (2008)

Adjusted savings: Education expenditure USD (2011)
8,093,085,641

Society
Where not otherwise noted, information for this section has been sourced from the World Bank.

Total population
38,481,705

Religion\(^6\)
Muslim (97.9%), Unaffiliated (1.8%), Christian (0.2%)

Languages
Arabic (official); Berber language (Tamazight) and French are also used\(^7\)

Population growth
1.9%

Population: ages 0-14 (% of total)
27%

Population: ages 15-64 (% of total)

---

\(^6\) http://features.pewforum.org/gr/1/population-percentage.php